About the indicator: The risk and reward indicator shows the connection between risk and possible returns for an investment in the fund. Category 1 does not mean that the fund is risk free. As the Fund launched in 2019 the indicator placement is partially estimated based on an intended investment allocation according to the Fund's investment model. The indicator is based on historical data and is not a guarantee of future risk or return.

The fund's Risk Profile: The fund belongs to category 6, which means there is a high risk of both increases and decreases in the fund's value. Major historical price movements mean high risk and small price movements mean lower risk. The fund's position on the indicator is not constant and the categorization may change over time.

The main risks related to the fund are company specific risk, market risk, currency risk and risks associated with investment style. Since the fund invests globally in the stock market, the value of the fund may vary depending on market conditions.

Material risks outside the indicator: The following risks are not fully reflected in the risk and reward indicator but still affect the value of the fund:

Liquidity risk: arises if assets in the fund are difficult to sell at a certain time or at a reasonable price.

Political risk: If trade barriers are established the market could be limited and the conditions for a possible return on investment can be affected with limited changes to the risk and reward indicator.

The above-mentioned risk factors are not exhaustive. Other factors may affect the pricing of the fund's underlying securities and thus the fund.
